

To enable installation, these hooks have double sided tape included which is used to hold the back plate in place. It is not intended to be a support for the hook.

